PRESS RELEASE

Integral Launches Cryptocurrency Market Data Services Through Integral OCX for High Availability Solution in the Unreliable World of Cryptocurrency

OCX Viewer™, Integral's free iOS app, now allows users to monitor real-time cryptocurrency prices

PALO ALTO, California (December 13, 2017) – Integral (www.integral.com), the financial technology partner trusted by leading banks, brokers, and investment managers to design, deliver and grow their FX businesses, announced today that it now offers market data for cryptocurrencies including Bitcoin, Ethereum, Bitcoin Cash and Litecoin through its trading platform, OCX™ (Open Currency Exchange). The expanded market data now includes:

- BTC/USD
- BTC/EUR
- BTG/USD
- BCH/USD
- ETH/USD
- ETC/USD
- ETH/BTC
- ZEC/USD
- XRP/USD
- LTC/USD
- XMR/USD
- NEO/USD

“This is another example of Integral delivering innovative solutions that allow our customers to outperform their competition,” said Harpal Sandhu, CEO of Integral. “As cryptocurrencies become mainstream, our retail broker partners must expand their product offerings to include them, so they count on Integral’s reliable infrastructure to help meet their customers’ demands.”

OCX Viewer™, Integral’s iOS app that allows users to monitor currency prices in OCX, now includes cryptocurrencies. It is available as a free download from the App Store.

In the coming weeks, Integral FX Benchmark will be extended to include these leading cryptocurrency pairs. This expansion will allow cryptocurrency traders to benchmark their execution on a continuous basis and will provide previously unavailable second-by-second mid-rates, at no cost. Integral developed this unique methodology in collaboration with Stanford University.

“Integral has been an outstanding technology partner for us,” said Charalambos Psimolophitis, CEO of FxPro Group. “We have maintained our position as the best FX broker by remaining client-centric and pushing the frontier of product offerings through our long-standing partnership with Integral. Integral’s OCX market data feed provides us with a stable, high availability solution in the very unreliable world of cryptocurrency. We are excited to incorporate Integral’s cryptocurrency market data to offer a wider selection of products to our customers.”
