Integral Reports Average Daily Volumes of $55.6 Billion in March 2020

Volumes increased 40% compared to February 2020 and 43% year-on-year

PALO ALTO, California (April 1, 2020) – Integral (www.integral.com), the technology partner trusted by leading banks, brokers, and asset managers to help them outperform their competition in the foreign exchange market, reported today average daily volumes (ADV) across Integral platforms totaled $55.6 billion in March 2020. This represents an increase of 40% compared to February 2020, and 43% increase when compared to the same period in 2019.

Harpal Sandhu, CEO at Integral said, “March proved to be a significant month for Integral, having marked both record ADV and a one-month record high of over $1.2 trillion traded on the network. The spike in volatility is behind this surge, with Euros and, interestingly, gold the first and second most heavily traded assets on the platform last month.”

“Most importantly, we are proud to have served our customers during this period of high volatility by offering an extremely stable and reliable service on Integral’s markets. Our cloud infrastructure insured clients had access to robust trading platforms irrespective of their location or working environment.”

No other platform reaches as many, as varied, and as comprehensive a set of FX products and participants as Integral OCX™. Banks, brokers, and asset managers now share direct access to OCX and use this unique liquidity to win market share from their competitors.

OCX is directly cross connected with more than 250 liquidity sources supplying more than 3,000 market making streams in NY4, LD4, and TY3. OCX’s award-winning advanced market design delivers the ultimate in execution performance by combining resting limit orders, market-making streams, and midpoint interest in a single integrated high-performance venue.
