Integral releases full Crypto Technology Solution for Banks, Brokers and Hedge Funds

Integral Digital delivers trading, custody and white label solution today

PALO ALTO, California (January 19, 2023) – Integral (www.integral.com), a leading currency technology provider to the financial markets, announced the launch of Integral Digital, a full extension of its award-winning trading and client distribution platform to support cryptocurrencies and fiat-backed stablecoins.

Developed in conjunction with Mint Exchange Inc, a leading institutional crypto exchange, the new platform supports Bitcoin, Bitcoin Cash, Litecoin, Ethereum, Ripple, Stellar, CoDEX and 100+ ERC-20 tokens. Services include aggregation and connectivity to over 30 crypto liquidity providers, desktop and mobile client trading, risk management, and hot and cold wallet custody solutions. Integral Digital is available on a subscription basis and can easily integrate with in-house and third-party providers via FIX and Rest APIs.

In addition, Integral Digital offers a fully integrated Prime Brokerage solution providing direct market access to multiple exchanges and market makers via a single account, maximizing netting across multiple venues and significantly reducing collateral requirements.

“In one big step, Integral is reshaping the landscape of digital asset technology. By extending the leading fiat currency technology, which processes more than $1 trillion in monthly transactions, digital asset businesses no longer need to settle for sub-par technology and credit solutions. Together with our partners at Mint Exchange we are able to bring direct connectivity to every major source of crypto liquidity combined with state-of-the-art custody solutions and the highest availability trading infrastructure, all delivered from our cloud datacenters in New York, London, Tokyo and Singapore,” said Harpal Sandhu, CEO of Integral.

The new offering is available now and serves both regulated and unregulated digital asset businesses globally. Further information is available on www.integral.com/digital-assets.
