

Integral

www.integral.com

The Benefits of Centralization

Sharper Prices

Aggregate internal flow across the group to access tighter spreads.

Efficiency Gains

One pricing hub is more cost-effective than disparate trading units.

Enhanced Risk Management

Internalize flow, minimize leakage, maximize profits.

Upgraded Service

A single competitive rate to offer tailored pricing to every client.

Flow Management

Stronger position to adjust pricing strategically.

Spread Retention

Profit from the bid/offer spread instead of passing to rivals.

Better Insights

Single source of truth across trading activity and exposure.

Tier-One Tech

One platform instance, configurable for any workflow, any use case.

By routing FX through a single hub – across trading desks, business units, and network entities – institutions eliminate fragmentation, sharpen pricing, and capture value that would otherwise flow to rivals. All delivered through a single platform that preserves local workflow flexibility.

To find out what FX centralization could do for your organization, visit integral.com